GREETINGS FROM LAGUNA BEACH, CA

The Laguna Beach Dog Company

Ready for a Little Doggie Style?

Long before Laguna Beach achieved MTV fame, it was home to world renown art galleries, the historic Laguna Playhouse, the spectacular Sawdust Art Festival, and over 11,000 registered canines! Keeping this in mind, it made perfect sense for us to merge one of the top dog clothing sites, DoggieDesigner.net, with The Laguna Beach Dog Company, an upscale boutique in the heart of downtown Laguna Beach, California. The result is the unique ability for customers all over the world to provide their pet with the unparalleled quality of DoggieDesigner, the ritz of Laguna Beach art, and the fun of California surf with one simple click of a mouse.

While it may not always be possible for you to visit The Laguna Beach Dog Company in person, you can still bring a piece of it's culture into your home. We offer logo merchandise for you and your doggie featuring the landmark lifeguard tower located on the sand of Laguna Beach just steps from the famed Pacific Coast Highway . This tower has been featured in numerous television scenes, travel magazines, and the paintings of many local and visiting artists.

We can also provide you with an incredible opportunity to generate a legacy for your dog with a one-of-a-kind painting of his/her likeness created by one of the top local artists in Laguna Beach!

Protect Your Dog and Yourself While Driving

Recently, there was a published article stating that 98% of pets in cars are unrestrained. National statistics show that unrestrained pets in the car pose a danger to themselves, other passengers in the car, and any potential rescue workers (in the event of an accident).

Not long ago in Laguna Beach, there was a multi-car accident in which none of the humans were hurt, but a small dog was thrown out of the car and immediately was killed. A simple car restraint could have saved his life.
